

Andre Veder – RFF Director

RFF is an Australian-wide consultancy company with offices in Perth, Port Hedland, Broome and the Sunshine Coast.

They provide services in planning, project management, community development, consultation, strategy, media management, business case analysis and graphic design.

Andre is an expert in strategy development, engagement and stakeholder consultation.

His passion for communities and projects is infectious and he has contributed significantly to the culture, brand and focus of RFF.

The company is becoming a leader in the advocacy of community issues in regional Australia and there is nobody better placed to fly this flag.

Andre's background is in communications and project management, where he has gained extensive experience working within State Government and the resource industry.

A director of RFF, Andre defines the success of a project as the authentic engagement of stakeholders from the onset to ensure the best possible outcome for all.

His secondary definition of success lays somewhere between a glass of scotch and amazing food made with ingredients most people would struggle to spell.
